"JOY TO THE WORLD."

THE INTRODUCTION OF

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

To the suffering Humanity of this Age,

Has Releived more Pain, and caused more Real Joy than any other Thing that can be Named. It is a

"BALM FOR EVERY WOUND,"

Our first Physicians use it, and recommend its use; the Apothecary finds it first among the medicines called for, and the wholesale Druggist considers it a leading article of his trade. All the dealers in medicine speak alike in its favor; and its reputation as a Medicine of Great Merit and Virtue is fully and permanently established, and it is

THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE OF THE AGE.

Every Volunteer should have a Bottle, in case of Sudden Attacks of Disease.

TAKEN INTERNALLY IT CURES

Sore Throat, Sudden Colds, Coughs, etc., Weak Stomach, General Debility, Nursing Sore Mouth, Canker, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Cramp and Pain in Stomach, Bowel Complaint, Painters' Colic, Asiatic Cholera, Diarrhœa and Dysentery.

TAKEN EXTERNALLY IT CURES

Felons, Boils and Old Sores, Severe Burns and Scalds, Cuts, Bruises and Sprains, Swelling of the Joints, Ringworm and Tetter, Broken Breasts, Frosted Feet and Chilblains, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neuralgia and Rheumatism.

PAIN KILLER,

Taken internally should be adulterated with milk or water, and sweetened with sugar, if desired made into a syrup with molasses. For a COUGH and BRONCHITIS, a few drops on sugar, eaten, will be more effective than anything else. For SORE THROAT, gargle the throat with a mixture of Pain Killer and water, and the relief is immediate and cure positive.

☞ It should not be forgotten that the Pain Killer is equally as good to take internally as to use externally. Each bottle is wrapped with full directions for its use.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

NEWPORT.

NEWPORT'S topographical beauties, ancient commercial importance, and many interesting historical associations, claim for it distinguished mention.

Coming in from the sea round Point Judith, a few miles bring the traveler into the waters of Narragansett Bay, where he passes between Fort Wolcott, on Goat Island, and the stronghold of Fort Adams upon Brenton Point, on the right, and enters the harbor of the ancient town, once among the commercial emporiums of the Union.

NEWPORT IN 1769.

As late as 1769, Newport outrivaled New York in her foreign and domestic commerce. At this time the town was in the zenith of her commercial prosperity; she had engaged in the foreign trade about two hundred vessels and nearly four hundred coasting vessels, including a regular line of London packets, and employing no less than twenty-two hundred seamen. New York, New Haven, New London, and other places, depended entirely on Newport as a market to supply themselves with foreign goods. Such was the amount of business done, that goods were not stored, owing to the want of room, while the wharves were literally covered with sugar, rum, molasses, and every kind of foreign and domestic goods. The coasters would take on board the merchandise and proceed direct to New York, Connecticut, &c., finding a ready demand. The West India trade was immense.

A druggist in Newport supplied Rhode Island, a part of Massachusetts, all Connecticut and North Carolina, and had an establishment in New York.

DURING THE REVOLUTION.

In the Revolution, the British long held possession of Newport, during which time and at their departure it became almost desolate. Before leaving, they destroyed four hundred and eighty buildings, burned the light-house, cut down all the trees, broke up the wharves, used the churches for riding schools and the state house for a hospital, and carried off the church bells and the town records to New York — disasters which reduced the population from 12,000 to less than half.

But the incidents of this period have left some pleasant memories for the present day; remembrances of the fame of Commodore Perry, who was born in Narragansett, across the bay, and whose remains now rest in Newport; of the residence of Rochambeau, and other brave officers of the French fleet; and of the visits of General Washington, and the fetes given in his honor.

Newport as it Is.

Of late years Newport has grown to be a great summer residence. It is the most elegant and fashionable of all American watering places. A new city of charming villas and sumptuous mansions has sprung up, extending far along upon the terraces which overlook the sea. Population near 15,000. The chief picturesque attractions of the place are the fine ocean shores, known as the First, Second and Third Beach. The First Beach is chiefly used as a bathing ground by visitors. At the Second Beach are the famous rocks called Purgatory and the Hanging Rocks, within whose shadows, it is said, the celebrated Bishop Berkeley wrote his "Minute Philosopher." Nearer to the city, and upon the coast, is the great Spouting Cave. The Glen and other localities are charming places to ride to.

"The natural attractions of Newport are great, but it does not depend on these alone to engage the attention of strangers who would while away a few summer days by the sea shore. On every hand are beautiful country seats of every known and unknown order of architecture; numerous hotels, and all well conducted; libraries of well stored and well selected books, easy of access; society composed of the leading men of the country, in all the walks of life; stately matrons and dashing belles — all combine their attractions, and serve to make Newport the most desirable and popular of summer resorts. In localities where nature has done but little, fashion may have the sway for a time. Crowds may flock to a point that boasts of no charm but its ocean view, or to the hot and arid sands bordering some inland water; but the excitement cannot long be sustained. At Newport it is altogether the reverse. Here, those who come to pass a few weeks are soon charmed with the climate and scenery of the island, a desire to build becomes irresistible, and the result is, a lot with a commanding view is purchased, a neat cottage erected, and the happy household only leave for their winter quarters when the north winds and the falling leaves proclaim the warm season at an end. Thousands now assemble at Newport every year; and during their stay, one great source of pleasure is to visit the most inviting scenes, and the spots rendered interesting by their historical associations."

Old Buildings, &c.

Among the venerable buildings still to be seen are the ancient State House (Newport being a semi-capital of Rhode Island), the Redwood Library, erected in 1748 (among its collections are eighty-four large volumes presented by the King of England), Tammany Hall Institute, Trinity Church, the Vernon Family Mansion, the City Hall, the fortifications in the harbor, and the "Old Stone Mill," a relic of a period past remembrance, and which has caused much speculation. It is claimed, by the author of a work published in Denmark, to have been erected by Northmen, who, it is supposed, discovered this continent, anterior to Columbus, in the twelfth century. These Northmen were descendants of the Scandinavians, who, it is thought, sprang from the Thracians, mentioned by Homer, a nation now extinct. The Danes, Swedes, Norwegians and Icelanders, all come under the name of Northmen or Norsemen. On the other hand, 'tis said the mill was erected about two hundred years ago, and belonged to Governor Benedict Arnold. In his will he calls it "my stone-built wind-mill," and in his son-in-law's will (Edward Pelham), dated May, 1741, mention is also made of it, as though it had been built in Governor Arnold's time. The dimensions of this curious structure is nearly 25 feet in height, its diameter on the outside is 23 feet, and inside 18 feet 9 inches. It is circular and supported upon eight arches, resting on thick columns about ten feet high. The height of the centre of the arches from the ground is 12 feet 6 inches, and the foundation extends to the depth of 5 feet. It is built of small pieces of stone firmly put together with a very hard cement or mortar. Newport was the birthplace of the gifted miniature painter Malbone; and Gilbert Stuart's place of nativity may be seen in Narragansett, across the bay. Stuart made two copies of his great Washington picture for Rhode Island — one can be seen in the State House at Newport, the other in that at Providence.

Franklin's Printing Press.

Franklin's Printing Press, which his brother James imported in 1720, was, until 1862, in the office of the Newport Mercury, a paper established in 1758, by James Franklin, and which is still published by F. A. Pratt. The press was kept and honored as the one on which the great Benjamin worked when learning his trade. It is now in Philadelphia.

Old Chair of State.

The Old Chair of State, in which Gov. Benedict Arnold sat at the reception of the charter in 1663, when it was proclaimed in the presence of all the freemen of the colony, at Newport, is in the possession of the Gould family.

Take it all in all, Newport is one of the most interesting and "enjoyably beautiful" places that the tourist can visit—fine hotels—beautiful drives—excellent bathing; and anything in the shopping line can be got; for directions to which see our advertising department of the Directory.

* On Friday evening, April 14, 1865, while the President was in the private box of a Washington theatre, John Wilkes Booth entered unobserved and shot him in the head, then leaped down upon the stage, fell and fractured his leg, but was up in an instant, and, brandishing a dagger, shouted the motto of Virginia, "Sic semper tyrannis." He made his escape to the rear and vanished. About the same hour, Secretary Seward, who was lying in bed from a broken arm, was attacked by an assassin, who inflicted several stabs upon him, which have not proved fatal, and nearly killed his son Frederick and attendants, who tried to defend him; he also made his escape. It now seems there was a plot to assassinate the whole Cabinet and Lieutenant-General U. S. Grant. On Wednesday morning, April 26th, Booth, with an accomplice named Harold, was discovered in a barn near Port Royal, on the Rappahannock, and refusing to surrender, the barn was fired; his companion then gave himself up and Booth was shot in the head; he lingered in such great agony as to beg his captors to kill him; he died in three or four hours afterward.

President Lincoln never spoke after receiving the cruel shot, and died on the following morning at twenty-two minutes after seven, his face assuming a placid look as if going into a sweet sleep. Thus passed away the good, kind, honest ABRAHAM LINCOLN, not by the natural course of disease, nor in the accepted peril of war, but by the foul shot of an assassin, just when his efforts were being crowned with success in putting down the most gigantic rebellion the world ever witnessed. He made an idol of his country, and died a martyr for his integrity. For four years "a merciful Providence preserved him to the nation, to defend its principles, to guide its councils, and to lead it out from the bloody depths of a terrible war into the bright sunlight of a blessed peace. But in this first moment of high hope, when the dark cloud of war was breaking; when Peace was spreading her wings over the land; when all were buoyant with gladness; when the great heart of our murdered Chief was palpitating with joy at the fast coming time when bloodshed and slaughter should cease; and while seeking to know how he could best temper Mercy with Justice in dealing with those who, by their crimes, have draped the land in mourning; in this hour of security and repose, he was cruelly and brutally murdered.

On the 19th of April, 1775, this nation was born in blood on the battle-field of Lexington. On the same day, 1861, it was new-born in the streets of Baltimore, by Massachusetts troops. On the same day, 1865, there was weeping and mourning throughout the land, and solemn public prayers were held, for ABRAHAM LINCOLN had gone through the gate of blood to join the noble army of our country's martyrs who had gone before him. May 4th, his remains were interred in Springfield, Illinois. "Men die, but principles live forever."

On Wednesday, July 5th, sentence was passed by the Military Court upon the conspirators connected with the murder of President Lincoln, and was approved the same day by President Johnson, to be carried into effect on the 7th. The sentence was that Mrs. M. E. Surratt, David E. Harold, Geo. A. Atzerodt, and Lewis Payne (whose real name was Lewis T. Powell, and the one who attacked Secretary Seward), should be hanged; and Michael O'Laughlin, Samuel Arnold and Dr. Mudd, imprisoned for life; and Edward Spangler, to be confined for six years. The execution of the sentence was one of the most summary on record; it was made known to the prisoners on the 6th, and at half-past one next day their spirits fled to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns.

The following items will give some idea of the immense labor which has devolved upon the court-martial: Total number of witnesses subpœnaed, 463; number of witnesses examined, 361; number examined, including recalls, 422; number subpœnaed for prosecution, 247; number actually examined, 198; number subpœnaed for defense, 236; number actually examined, 163; total number of pages of testimony (legal cap), 4,300, making a solid pile of manuscript somewhat over twenty-six inches high; the arguments will make, in addition, 700. The vast masses of depositions taken by three Judge-Advocates, prior to the opening of the case, employed five short-hand writers a fortnight, and will take two experienced clerks six weeks to brief and file away.

SOCIETIES, INSTITUTIONS, &c.

FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

The Ancient and Honorable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons differs from all other institutions, and dates its commencement at a remote period. The lamb skin, or white leather apron — which is the badge of a mason and an emblem of innocence — is more ancient than the golden fleece or Roman eagle; more honorable than the star and garter, or any other order that can be conferred by a king, prince or potentate. The great objects of the association are the restraint of improper desires and passions — the cultivation of an active benevolence, and the promotion of a correct knowledge of the duties we owe to God, our neighbor and ourselves.

In masonry, there is Wisdom, Strength and Beauty. Wisdom to contrive; Strength to support, and Beauty to adorn all great and important undertakings. There is also Faith, Hope and Charity. Faith in God, Hope in His salvation, and Charity to all mankind. The orders of architecture, the five senses, and the seven liberal arts and sciences are introduced and fully explained. Duty and honor alike bind a mason to be faithful to every trust.

Many of the greatest men of all nations have been masons. George Washington, Benj. Franklin and such men of our own country, and 52 signers of the Declaration of Independence were masons. Kings and Princes have not felt humbled in belonging to the order and sitting in a lodge among their subjects.

Masonry first brought into Newport in the year 1658.

CHURCHES.

1. The First Baptist Church, which, as Hubbard wrote in 1648, and which, as described in 1730, by the Rev. John Comer, the fifth pastor, and by Rev. Mr. Callender, the sixth, in 1738, was established as early as 1644, though an earlier date has been claimed since their day by B. B. Howland, Esq., viz., 1641. Rev. S. Adlam, the thirteenth and its present highly esteemed pastor, has said, "This is the oldest Church on Rhode Island, having been founded in 1638, the year when the first settlement was made upon it." The minister is C. E. Barrows, and the sexton, Henry Seixas. The bell in the tower weighs 1,050 lbs.

2. The first Society of Friends was established in Newport about 1643. As the house in which the records of their meetings were deposited was burnt in 1676, the first regular account which is preserved, bears date in this year; but the record books for marriages, births and deaths are in being, and the first marriage in Newport occurred Wednesday, 4th day, 15th of 9th month, 1643; the first birth on Friday, 6th day, 19th of 2d month, 1644; and the first death on Thursday, 5th day, 30th of 7th month, 1647. These dates are after the old style.

It is reported that their first house was built on Farewell street, about 1680; but there is a record of a marriage performed at their public meeting house, 3m., 16th, 1677. The foundation of a new house was laid Oct. 17th, 1699. This house, built in 1700, is situated on Tanner and Marlborough streets, and was enlarged on the north, August 22d, 1729, and on the south in 1807; and now measures 46 by 126 feet. It has been reconstructed. Seats in both apartments, 1,505.

The first child of the English settlers was born at Portsmouth, then Pocasset, 3d m. (May), 1638. He was the son of Richard and Joan Borden, and was named Matthew.

3. The next in order is the Second Baptist Church, situated on North Baptist and Farewell streets, founded in 1656. Their first house was erected in 1697; their second in 1706–7, and was enlarged successively in 1725, 1749 and 1768, at which time it measured 52 by 76 feet; and their third in 1834–5, and is in dimensions 52 by 86 feet, and seats on the floor 677, and in the galleries 220, in all, 897. The minister is Charles H. Malcom, and the sexton, Philip Shermun, the patriarch of his office. The bell in the tower is on the letter G, and weighs 1,617 pounds.

4. The fourth in order is the SABBATARIAN BAPTIST CHURCH, founded in 1671. Their first house was at "Green End," 1707; and their second on Barney street, 1730—26 by 38 feet, and seats on the floor, 148, and in the galleries 86, in all 234.

5. THE UNITED CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH was formed May 24th, 1833, by the Union of the First and Second. The Rev. N. Clap began his labors January, 1695. The house of the first was built on Tanner street, near the manufacturing establishment of John T. Bush, in 1696; and another was raised July 21, 1728, on Mill street, 42 by 60 feet. The second church, built on Clarke street, in 1733, 42 by 60 feet. In 1834, June 4th, the Union House was dedicated, situated on Spring and Pelham streets, measuring 42 by 70 feet. Their present house was dedicated January 15, 1857, built on the site of the preceding. Its dimensions are 66 by 96 feet; a stone building. The minister is Thatcher Thayer, and the sexton Thomas Kavanah. The bell was cast in Gottenburgh, and arrived here in 1787, and is on the letter A. It weighs 1,211 lbs., bearing the imprint "Captain Benjamin Pearce, second Congregational Church of the city of Newport, 1786."

6. TRINITY CHURCH, measuring 46 by 97 feet, situated on Church, Spring and Frank streets. The first house, on the same site, was completed in 1702, and the present in 1726, then measuring 46 by 70 feet, and enlarged to its present dimensions in 1762. The tower was erected 1768, measuring 18 feet square, and 60 feet high above bell deck. The present minister is J. H. Black, and the sexton Gottleib Spingler. The bell weighs 1,876 lbs., and is on letter A sharp.

Afterwards they worshiped in Union Church on Division street; then in the Sabbatarian, and finally a division erected a house on South Thames street, recently occupied by Episcopalians. Rev. Mr. Huddy, pastor. Its sexton is Daniel Jackson.

NEWSPAPERS.

THE NEWPORT MERCURY is the oldest but one of many newspapers published in the United States, and dates from June 12, 1758, at which time the office was opened by James Franklin, eldest brother of Dr. Benjamin Franklin. The press on which the two brothers worked in Boston remaining in the office until 1862. The Mercury was published regularly up to the time of landing of the British on the island, when the press and types were buried. The fact that the property was so secreted was made known to the British commander, who caused them be set up again, and during the stay of the British, they regularly issued the Rhode Island Gazette. After the war, the Mercury was again issued, and was published by one family for a period of seventy years, its dimensions gradually increasing, from a few inches square, to one of the large and respectable sheets of the day. The Mercury is independent on all questions of the day, and is, what it professes to be, a high-toned, conservative paper, adapted to the wants of a large class of readers. It is published and printed every Saturday, by F. A. Pratt, Thames street, corner of Market square. Terms $2.00 per annum.

THE NEWPORT DAILY NEWS AND WEEKLY JOURNAL. —The Newport Daily News was the first daily paper published in Newport, and has outlived many competitors, which have, from time to time, been organized, being at the present time the only daily paper in the State, out of the city of Providence. It was first published on the 4th of May, 1846, by Orin F. Jackson, and continued to grow in public favor, under his energetic management, until September 4th, 1848, when he sold the establishment to William H. Cranston, Esq., who edited and published the paper until January 1st, 1849, when he associated George H. Norman with him. The paper was published by Cranston & Norman, until Oct. 14th, 1856, when it was purchased by a committee of gentlemen, with John Hobart, Esq., as editor. In March, 1857, George T. Hammond, Esq., was chosen by the directors, on account of his literary ability and experience, to succeed Mr. Hobart; but, finding it more to his advantage, he finally purchased the entire establishment, on the 20th of April, 1857, and is now the editor, publisher, and proprietor. Mr. Hammond, at the same time, purchased and united the interest of several weekly papers — The Rhode Island Republican, Newport Rhode Islander, Newport Herald of the Times, Newport Weekly Journal, and the Providence Rhode Islander — in his present publication, which has the largest circulation of any newspaper in the State, out of the city of Providence.

Connected with the establishment is a large "job office," thoroughly provided with excellent presses, and modern type.

Altogether, it is not common to meet, in a city no larger than Newport, with an establishment, so large, of so long standing, or so well conducted, as the office of the Newport Daily News.
